

'Your Voice' in Greenock is a collaboration of many agencies around the Inverclyde area who deal with people recovering from substance and alcohol misuse. I wrote and directed a play for them called 'Road to Recovery' which was performed at the Beacon Arts Centre in Greenock to a capacity 120 audience in August 2013 and received a standing ovation. The theme's of this play were recovery, stigma, and the effect on the families of addicts.
